Ironworks Consulting Expands Into Midwest with Minneapolis Office Opening

-(Corporate Wire)- Ironworks, a management, Web and IT consulting firm, announced today that it has expanded into the Minneapolis market by opening an office at 6 Pine Tree Drive, Arden Hills, Minn. The Minneapolis office will serve as the hub for Ironworks' expansion into the Midwest. "Despite the slow economy, Ironworks has seen organic growth rates of over 30% annually in both 2008 and 2009. Through strong customer and partner relationships, we have successfully expanded from a regional to a national customer base. We felt that an expansion into the Midwest was a logical next step for Ironworks and that Minneapolis was the optimal city to start that expansion," said Scott Walker, chief executive officer of Ironworks.

Ironworks has hired an initial team of seven consultants to staff the Minneapolis office and plans to aggressively scale this year, adding to the existing 250 employees companywide. Locally, Ironworks is currently looking to hire consultants with skills in portal, enterprise content management, and web strategy as well as senior level consultants with industry expertise in the healthcare, financial services, retail and distribution, government solutions, and not-for-profit verticals.
